We have independently evaluated the Result Generator, and the associated RNG, that determines the probable outcome and final result of each race event.

A variety of standard statistical tests have been used to test random numbers generated by the system. The event results methodology was also reviewed to ensure fairness and consistency, without bias. No issues have been identified with the Result Generator system, which is considered fit for purpose.

This information would be in line with the tests conducted on the the Result Generator referenced in GLI-AF/08052/KIR
